STORE CARDS.

The following comprise all of Mr. Ely's collection of Store Cards, in various metals; all are in good condition, excepting the last lot, and many of those are fine but for perforation. The following abbreviations are used in description, though very little is attempted: b. brass; c. copper; s. silver; t. tin, or white metal; n. nickel; r. rubber; p. proof. Amongst the lots will be noted many fine proofs in various metals. These are many of them from the hoard of dies so long kept at Waterbury, all of which were destroyed in the fire which befell the Scoville Manufacturing Co's works two or three years ago. It will thus be seen that these cards can never be reproduced.

HARD TIMES TOKENS.

These Tokens are arranged by the plan adopted by Mr. Haseltine in his Type Table Catalogue, and the numbers in brackets are according to his list, for which see the catalogue referred to, pages 22 to 26, for excellent detailed descriptions. Mr. Haseltine's catalogue is so generally in the hands of collectors, that it seems to me unnecessary to repeat his descriptions.

1334 1852 U. S. Silver Dollar. Original; very fine and of great rarity.

1335 1857 Silver Dollar; splendid proof, slightly haymarked, rare.

1336 A collection of curious lumps, apparently of pure silver, mostly flattened, ovate in form and of various weights, which seem to have no relation to each other. They appear to be buttons of metal formed in crucibles, and all are stamped with characters which I judge to be East Indian. All are, with the exception of the stamps, as they left the crucibles. In grains the weights are as follows: 8, 15, 23, 25, 30, 37, 42, 43, 81, 91, 279, 408, 564; a remarkable lot, and doubtless of great rarity. 13 pieces.

A MEXICAN CONSIGNMENT.

The following coins are from the collection of an American numismatist, for many years a resident on the west coast of Mexico, during all which time he has given unremitting attention to his favorite pursuit, losing no opportunity to add to his collection. These pieces, selected by him on the spot, are of a quality that rarely appear in American sales.

COINS OF CANADA.

1484 A collection, comprising twenty pieces of penny size, and a large number of Sous, Wellingtons, Brock and other tokens, private issues, White, Purvis, Brown, etc., in superior condition, but one pierced; none are poor, and nearly all are fine; also, a number of medals, some of them in proof condition, no duplicates. From the Jenks Collection. 109 pieces.

1486 Another Canadian collection without duplicates, contains thirty varieties of the Un Sou, of quality superior to the last, but contains less scarce pieces; only about twelve are perforated and very poor, the others rank from good to very fine. 156 pieces.

1487 Another collection without duplicates, twenty-seven varieties of the Sou; average quality equal to the last, only four pierced. 99 pieces.

1488 Un Sou. A large variety, but in most instances several of a kind; condition averages about good, very few are pierced. 100 pieces.

1489 Un Sou. Another lot of the same quality as the last, average perhaps a trifle better. 100 pieces.

1490 Un Sou. Like the two preceding. 100 pieces.

1491 Un Sou. Another lot: a larger variety and a little better quality than the three last lots. 187 pieces.

1492 Coins of Canada and various other countries mixed; a large variety; quality from good to very fine, none pierced. 138 pieces.

1493 Medals: different metals, some duplicates; fine lot. 11 pieces.

1494 Card. H. Gagnon & Co., St. Roche, Quebec; rev., a beaver: "Maison Jacques Cartier"; fine, has been considered very rare.

1495 A lot, containing duplicates; in better condition than any of the preceding lots except No. 1484, which number, it may be said, comprised Mr. W. J. Jenks' entire Canadian collection; none pierced, will average about fine, some are extremely fine. 134 pieces.

THE HOLSTEIN COLLECTION.

The following Coins comprise the entire collection of copper coins made by Mr. Francis Holstein of Germany, with the addition of a portion of Mr. W. J. Jenks' Collection of Copper Coins which collectors will remember were omitted, for want of room, from my sale of June 25, 26, 1883. The extent of these collections comprising as they do several thousand coins, compels me to group them in lots much larger, in many instances, than can be judiciously sold together. This method of cataloguing is, however, manifestly to the great advantage of the buyer, as he thus frequently purchases in a lot, for a few cents, coins which, separately described, would probably bring as many dollars. A notable example of this was seen in a recent New York sale, where three very rare pieces were sold in a lot of twenty-five, at three cents each,—certainly not more than one hundredth part of their value; a duplicate of one of these pieces now before me I value at ten dollars.

In making up the lots for this Catalogue I have, so far as time would allow, avoided putting in duplicates; and to save repetition, now make the general statement that the lots are usually without duplicates, though I do not guarantee that duplicates will not be found. Whenever they appear, I have usually mentioned it. None of the lots contain any perforated pieces, and the condition of the coins is, with few exceptions, of a character to entitle them to a place in any good cabinet. With the exception of a few trade lots, they have all occupied that position, being the selection of two judicious numismatists, purchased for their private collections, and not cheap parcels bought with a view to speculation by sale.

THIS SALE

Comprising I believe a greater number and larger variety of Coins, particularly in Copper, than was ever before offered at any one American Sale, affords an opportunity for Collectors to add to their cabinets, and for Dealers to increase their stocks, such as has not before occurred and may not soon happen again.

I have taken occasion in the course of the catalogue to call attention to the exceptionally good or fine condition of the bulk of the copper coins in the Holstein Collection particularly, and I desire to say now, these coins are not of the class which are gathered in lots at home and abroad at a trifling cost, but they were as a rule selected with care and discrimination by an intelligent numismatist for a private collection, due regard being had to variety and quality, every thing not worthy a place in a cabinet being sturdily rejected.

This statement is made in the hope and expectation that collectors at a distance especially, will graduate their bids by the quality of the coins and not by prices that prevail for the lots of rubbish such as are sometimes seen.

As usual fifty copies of this catalogue on extra-heavy tinted paper with a heliotype plate will be printed for collectors. They may be had soon after the sale with prices, for one dollar each. Early orders are requested, for as the labor of pricing is very great, the rule is "first come, first served."

Of the ordinary edition a few copies are printed with the illustrative plate for those who wish to observe the condition of some of the finer pieces. A similar edition of the Ely catalogue was issued and exhausted long before the sale. On the days following this sale I shall sell at the usual place a Numismatic Library, a selection of Trials, Local Histories, Genealogies, and Confederate Publications, a line of Japanese Netsukes, a variety of Bric-a-brac and Curios, and a fine collection of Pre-historic Stone Relics.

At the same time will be sold several fine examples of Marble Statuary by Horatio Stone. Busts of Alexander Hamilton, of Harvey, of Corinne, and a statue of Dante's Beatrice, the last 70 inches in height, all with pedestals.

Correspondents will please address me at home until March 1st, after that date until March 8th, care of Messrs. Bangs & Co., 739 and 741 Broadway, New York City, and I particularly request that orders be sent at as early a date as practicable, that I may get them entered in my order book before leaving for New York.
